Introduction

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE—The Census of Business is required by law under 13 U.S.C., sections 131, 191, and 224. The 1963 census covered businesses in retail trade, wholesale trade, selected services, dental laboratories, and public warehousing operated in the United States, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. A separate 1963 Census of Business and Manufactures for Puerto Rico was conducted jointly with the Commonwealth Government. The figures in this report include those issued previously in report series BC63-RS. For definitions, see appendix A.

KINDS OF BUSINESS COVERED—Retail trade as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual<sup>1</sup> includes all establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise to personal, household, and farm users. In this volume, it also includes liquor stores operated by State and local governments. Retail trade excludes post exchanges, ship stores, and other similar establishments operated on military posts by agencies of the Federal Government. A separate presentation of the data for such establishments is given in chapter 1, table 19, of this volume. Data for administrative offices, warehouses, and other units which service and are auxiliary to retail establishments within the same organizations are excluded from most of the tables in this volume but are presented in tables 21 to 24 of chapter 9. See appendix B, Explanation of Terms, for definitions of the kind-of-business categories for which data are shown in this volume.

METHOD OF ENUMERATION—For purposes of coverage in the 1963 Census of Business, retail establishments were divided into two categories—those with some paid employment during 1963 (i.e., “employer” universe) and those with no paid employment during 1963 (i.e., the “nonemployer” universe). The method of obtaining census information for these two groups is described below.

Enumeration of “Employers.”—Information for establishments with some paid employment during 1963 was obtained by means of a mail canvass. Report forms were mailed to all business firms included in the active records of the Internal Revenue Service as subject to payment of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes (i.e., employers of one or more persons) and which were classified in the records of the Social Security Administration (SSA) as wholly or partially engaged in retail and wholesale trade, and in manufacturing and mineral industries. Also included were those classified in major groups 70 (except 702 and 704), 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, and 79 in the service industries portion of the SIC Manual; in SIC industry 8072, dental laboratories; and in public warehousing, SIC major group 42 (except 421). In addition, report forms were mailed to all establishments which the SSA had not classified by kind of business prior to mailing of census report forms. Each establishment was mailed a report form appropriate to its SSA classification (for those cases for which SSA classification had not yet been established, a general purpose form was used), but its census classification was determined by replies to questions on the census report form.

Enumeration of “Nonemployers.”—Information for this group of establishments was obtained from the 1963 Federal income tax returns of retail businesses other than those represented in the active FICA records of the Internal Revenue Service. Although made up of a large number of establishments the non-employer segment accounts for less than 5 percent of total retail sales.

Data were compiled from only one-half of the nonemployer tax returns and were multiplied by two to establish census totals. Only those establishments were included here which reported a sales volume of $2,500 or more during 1963 or, having been in operation for less than the full year, reported sales which would have reached a total of $2,500 or more on an annual basis.

Based on a probability sample of all 1963 business income tax returns on Schedule C of Form 1040 and Form 1065, it is estimated that about 40,000 nonemployer establishments, of which about 22,000 were service establishments, were omitted from the census of business tabulations because of late filing. The effect of these omissions on the total sales was negligible, accounting for about one-third of 1 percent of the total sales. Studies of retailers indicate a probability that there is an additional minor omission amounting to less than 1 percent in the total service volume, due to business operations not being completely identified in the tax returns.

COMPARISON OF THE 1958 CENSUS WITH THE 1963 CENSUS—In all major respects, the 1958 and 1963 censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures. Strict comparability of the data for the two censuses is limited by the following factors:

1. In 1958, Alaska and Hawaii had not yet been admitted as States. Consequently, in the publications of the 1958 census the totals for the United States included the then 48 States and the District of Columbia. In the 1963 census publications, the United States totals include the 50 States and the District of Columbia. Tables in the 1963 publications which show United States totals for 1958 have been adjusted to include Alaska and Hawaii.

2. The physical area of a number of urban places for which data are shown in the 1963 census is not the same as it was in the 1958 census because of annexations and other boundary changes which have occurred since 1958.

3. In the 1963 census, for the first time, nonemployer establishments which did not operate the entire year have been included if, during the period they operated, their receipts were at a rate which would have reached an annual total of $2,500 or more had they operated the entire year. This change increases the count of nonemployer establishments but has little effect on the total volume of sales.

4. The number of active proprietors shown in this report is based on crediting each sole proprietorship with one active proprietor and each partnership with two active proprietors if the establishment was in operation during November 1963. In the 1958 census each business was asked to report this number.

5. In the 1963 census, information was collected from employer establishments on retail sales by merchandise lines. Such information had last been collected as part of the 1948 census. These data are published in Vol. I, Retail Trade—Summary Statistics, and in separate reports as part of the subject preprint series, BC63—RS. Data for "employer" establishments are provided for 24 broad merchandise lines and a variable number of additional lines specifically oriented to a single kind of business or a group of related businesses.

6. Information on sales by merchandise lines was used in assigning kind-of-business codes and provided a more precise basis for classification than previously was available. In some cases this could have resulted in classifications which were different than would have been assigned if the information available had been limited to what was available in the 1958 census.

7. Some changes were made in the 1963 census in the individual kind-of-business definitions which are detailed in appendix A. The kinds of business involved are:

- Lumber yards, building materials dealers
- Meat markets
- General stores
- Tire, battery, accessory dealers
- Home, auto supply stores
- Eating places
- Refreshment places
- Optical goods stores
- Nonstore retailers

8. In 1963 a new method was used for assigning establishments to places. This system used a computer coding procedure based on an address reference file for the larger cities. This provided a more precise method for determining whether establishments were inside or outside of city boundaries than the previously used system which was based on respondent report of location. The new system avoids the difficulty resulting from the tendency of suburban respondents to identify their location as being in the adjacent city although actually located beyond that city's boundaries. In those cases where this procedure has resulted in significant differences, the 1958 data included in the 1963 reports have been corrected or, if that was not feasible, appropriate notations made advising of the lack of comparability.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES—In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, any data which disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business organization are not published. However, the number of establishments in a kind of business is not considered a disclosure, so that this item may appear in instances where other items of information for the same kind of business or locality are withheld.

TYPES OF AREAS COVERED—The 1963 census reports provide retail trade data grouped by kind of business for a variety of geographic areas including the following:

1. In combination for the 50 States of the United States; also each census geographic region and division. (See appendix B for definitions.)

2. Each Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA). The SMSA's included in these volumes are those which were delineated by the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President, and listed in its report Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, 1964.

3. Each county.

4. Each incorporated urban place (city, village, etc.) of 2,500 inhabitants or more. In addition, for the New England States, data are provided for towns having 10,000 inhabitants or more, or an urban population of 2,500 or more; and in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, for townships with 10,000 inhabitants or more.

5. Within each of 116 large SMSA's, for the central business district of each city of 100,000 inhabitants or more, and for approximately 1,000 major retail centers other than the central business district.

Most of the area detailed for retail trade is found in Volume II of the 1963 Census of Business. However, information for central business districts and major retail centers are presented in Volume III.

Summary of Findings

GENERAL SUMMARY

Sales—Sales of retail establishments totaled $244 billion in 1963, an increase of 22 percent from 1958, the last previous census year. This increase compares with increases of 31 percent for the gross national product and 29 percent for personal income. As a percent of personal income, retail sales have declined from 61.2

percent in 1948 to 58.7 percent in 1954, to 55.4 percent in 1958, to 52.6 percent in 1963. However, per capita retail sales, adjusted for changes in the consumer price level by using the Department of Labor's Consumer Price Index, have increased from $1,053 in 1948 to $1,144 in 1958, to $1,213 in 1963.

Table A presents data on retail sales and selected economic indicators for the major census years. Also, the graph (figure 1) illustrates the growth since 1929 in personal income, retail sales, and population.

Note: Alaska and Hawaii included only in 1963 data.

Employment and Payroll—Retail establishments had 8,410,000 paid employees during the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1963. This represented an increase of 5.9 percent over the number of paid employees in the same period in 1958. In 1958, retail store employees accounted for 13.7 percent of the employed nonagricultural workers in the United States. This percentage declined to 13.2 percent in 1963. The annual payroll for these employees reached $27.6 billion in 1963, an increase of almost $6 billion or 27.5 percent over 1958. The kinds of business with the greatest numbers of employees were "eating places" with almost 1½ million employees, "grocery stores" with slightly over 1 million, and "department stores" with 970,000 paid employees. These three kinds of business were also the largest employers in the 1958 Census. The rate of growth in employment between 1958 and 1963 in each of the three (eating places, grocery stores, and department stores), was substantially above the average for the other retail kinds of business.

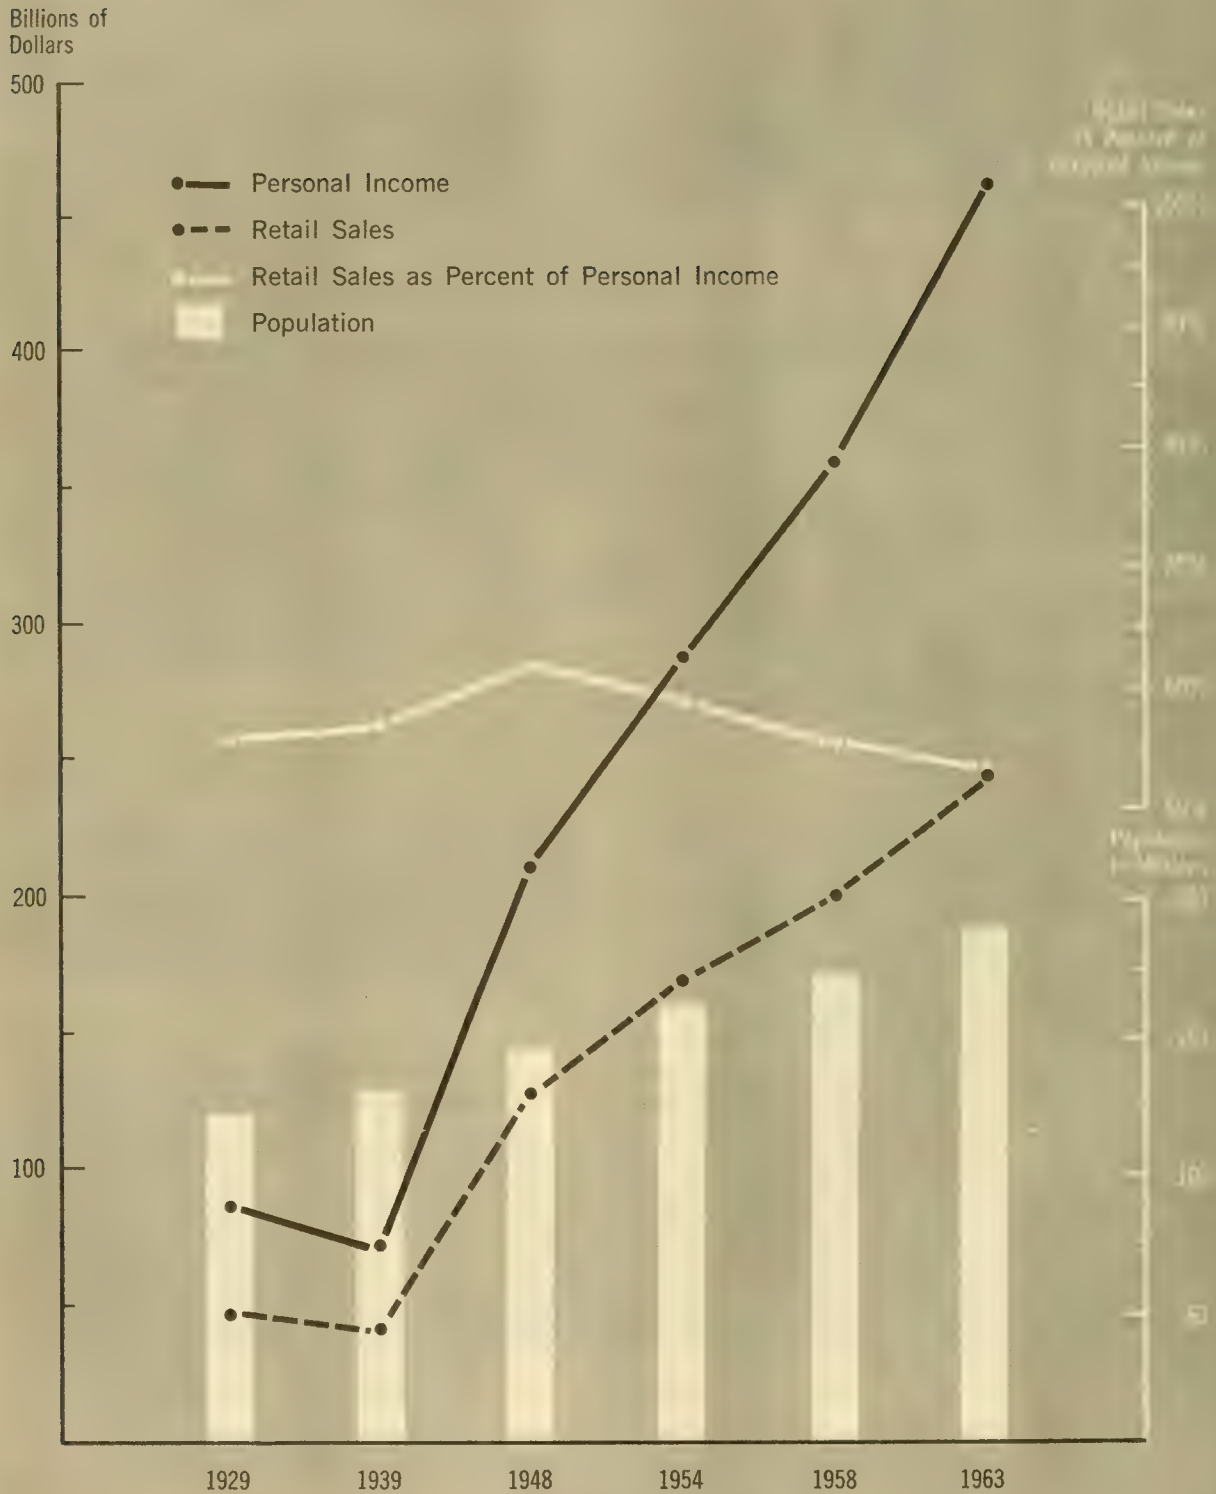

There was a decline in number of employees between 1958 and 1963 in some kinds of business, such as the "lumber, building materials, hardware, farm equipment" group (partly accounted for by a definitional change—see appendix B); the "apparel, accessory stores" group; and the "furniture, home-furnishings, equipment stores" group. All major retail kinds of business, however, showed an increase in annual payroll.

Payroll to Sales Ratios—The ratio of annual payroll to sales for retail trade rose to 11.9 percent in 1963, an increase from 11.5 percent in 1958. The kinds of business with the largest increases were "fuel and ice dealers" up 2.6 percent; "drinking places" up 2.2 percent; and "tire, battery, and accessory dealers" up 2.0 percent. "Department stores" had the largest decrease, 2.3 percent.

Table C presents the annual payroll for 1963 and 1958 and the payroll to sales ratios for each major kind-of-business group and for the more important kinds of business.

Distribution of Sales by Kind of Business—

There were substantial changes in retail sales by kind of business between 1958 and 1963. The two kinds of business that registered the greatest gains were "department stores" and "franchised passenger car dealers." In 1958 "department stores" accounted for 6.7 percent of all retail sales; in 1963, 8.4 percent. The corresponding percentages for "franchised passenger car dealers" were 12.7 percent in 1958 and 15.3 percent in 1963.

Declines in the share of the total retail dollar were more moderate than the increases cited above and spread over several kinds of business. Those kinds of business showing declines were "lumber and other building materials dealers" (partly accounted for by a definition change—see appendix B), "hardware stores," all major segments of the "apparel, accessory" group and the "furniture, home-furnishings, equipment stores" group.

"Grocery stores" remained the largest single kind of business in retail trade. However, although total sales of grocery stores increased almost $9 billion between 1958 and 1963, their share of total retail sales dropped from 21.9 percent in 1958 to 21.5 percent in 1963. "Eating places" showed an increase from 5.5 percent of total retail sales in 1958 to 5.7 percent in 1963. During the same period "drinking places" dropped from 2.1 percent to 1.8 percent. Data for these and other kinds of business for the years 1963 and 1958 are shown in table D

GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION OF RETAIL SALES

Retail sales by State ranged from a high of almost $27 billion for California, to Alaska's sales of $284 million in the year 1963. For the first time in a U.S. Census of Business, California was largest among the States in volume of sales. New York, the previous leader dropped to second place. Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, and New Jersey all maintained their 1958 positions from third to eighth largest respectively. Florida became the ninth largest, the rank formerly held by Massachusetts. Table E presents the States in alphabetic order with their rank in each of the last three census years, 1963, 1958, and 1954.

Nationally, retail sales increased 22 percent from 1958 with all States showing some increase. The increases ranged from 73 percent for Nevada to 9 percent for the District of Columbia. Twenty-five States had an increase greater than the United States, while 25 States and the District of Columbia had a smaller increase. Hawaii with an increase of 46 percent, Arizona with 43 percent, Alaska with 41 percent, and California with 35 percent followed Nevada as the States with the greatest increase in retail sales.

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas—Of the 25 largest standard metropolitan statistical areas, all had an increase in sales since 1958. Washington, D.C.—Md.—Va., SMSA, showed the largest percentage increase—35 percent. Atlanta, Ga., SMSA with 33 percent; San Francisco-Oakland, Calif., SMSA with 31 percent; and Denver, Colo., SMSA with 30 percent followed in that order. Of the 10 largest SMSA's in total retail sales, Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif., and Chicago, Ill., exchanged second and third positions between 1958 and 1963, San Francisco-Oakland, Calif., and Boston, Mass., exchanged sixth and seventh places, and Washington, D.C., and Pittsburgh, Pa., exchanged eighth and ninth.

A decline in the central cities' share of SMSA retail sales occurred in most SMSA's and many central cities also had an absolute decline in sales. Of the 25 largest SMSA's the central city or cities in 10 of these SMSA's showed a decrease in retail sales from 1958 to 1963. A similar comparison from 1954 to 1958 showed that only one central city had a loss in sales. The central city or cities in every one of the 25 SMSA's had a smaller share of the SMSA's total sales in 1963 than in 1958.

County Distribution—Los Angeles County, Calif., had retail sales of $10.7 billion in 1963, making it the highest in retail sales of any county in the United States. It was followed by Cook County, Ill. ($8.2 billion); New York County (Manhattan), N.Y.; and Wayne County, Mich. Each of these first four counties maintained the same rank it held in the 1958 Census. Kings County, N.Y., moved up from sixth position in 1958 to fifth in 1963. The first five counties were followed by Philadelphia County, Pa., Cuyahoga County, Ohio, Nassau County, N.Y., Queens County, N.Y., and Allegheny County, Pa., in that order.

St. Louis County, Mo., Sacramento County, Calif., and Montgomery County, Pa., were included in the first 50 counties in volume of retail sales for the first time in 1963. Table H lists the 50 counties with the largest retail sales volume according to their 1963 rank.

Major Retail Centers—The shift of retail sales away from the central business district is illustrated by the data published in the Major Retail Centers reports. These reports contain data for the 116 largest standard metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, which included 131 central business districts and 972 other major retail centers. The modal SMSA had a growth in retail sales of 20 percent or more between 1958 and 1963. The modal city had a growth of almost 10 percent in retail sales. The modal CBD had a small decrease for the same period of time.

This shift of retail trade away from the central business districts, and to a lesser extent away from the central cities, can be expressed in another manner. All 116 SMSA's had an increase in retail sales between 1958 and 1963. Eighty-four percent of the central cities had an increase in sales, in every case smaller than that for the SMSA. Only 30 percent of the central business districts showed an increase in retail sales in the 5-year period. Figure 4 presents data for the SMSA's, cities, and central business districts that are included in the major retail center program.

Number of Establishments with Sales of 1 Million Dollars or More, by Kinds of Business: 1958 and 1963

Includes only establishments operated the entire year

SALES SIZE (Tables in Chapter 2)

Retail trade establishments with annual sales of $1 million or more grew at a rate more than twice that of all retail establishments between 1958 and 1963. The increase in sales for all full-year establishments was 23 percent, and the increase in sales of the "million dollar" establishments was 52 percent. The increase in sales for million dollar establishments was $30.5 billion to reach a total in 1963 of $89.1 billion.

The "million dollar" retail stores were heavily concentrated in three kinds of business;

28,000 of a total in retail trade of 36,000 were either grocery stores, franchised passenger car dealers, or department stores. Stores in these three kinds of business amounted to 77.6 percent of the total of million dollar stores. Of the $30.5 billion sales increase from 1958 to 1963 in million dollar stores, $28 billion came from these three kinds of business. Million dollar grocery stores had a $7.6 billion increase in sales, franchised passenger car dealers had a $13.4 billion increase, while department stores had a $7.0 billion increase.

EMPLOYMENT SIZE (Tables in Chapter 3)

There were 4,399 retail establishments with 100 employees or more in the mid-November pay period in 1963.

This relatively small number of establishments (about one-third of 1 percent of all full-year retail establishments) had 15.2 percent of all retail employees. Department stores led in number of stores which had 100 employees or more with 2,047. Eating places followed with 605 establishments, franchised passenger car dealers with 430, and limited price variety stores with 271. Table J presents data by kind of business for establishments having 100 employees or more and indicates the relative importance of these establishments.

SINGLE UNITS AND MULTIUNITS (Tables in Chapter 4)

For the first time data on number of firms or companies as well as on number of establishments are shown in the retail reports on single units and multiunits. In 1963 there were 43,582 multiunit firms operating 219,783 establishments, or an average of 5 establishments per firm. At one end of the range, there were almost 30,000 firms, each operating 2 establishments. At the other end of the range, 191 firms operated 70,075 establishments.

IN BILLIONS OF DOLLARS

With respect to the number of stores operated by firms with 101 or more retail establishments, over half of the total of 70,075 establishments are found in four kinds of business: (1) grocery stores in this classification had 15,705 establishments operated by 32 firms; (2) gasoline service stations had 9,248 establishments operated by 25 firms; (3) limited price variety stores had 7,246 establishments operated by 14 firms; and (4) shoe stores had 5,838 establishments operated by 17 firms.

With respect to the sales of firms with 101 retail establishments or more, grocery stores led the list with $18.1 billion in sales for 32 firms; department stores followed with $6.8 billion in sales for 13 firms; limited price variety stores had $3.3 billion for 14 firms; and mail order establishments had $1.3 billion in sales for 12 firms.

Multiunit establishments made 36.6 percent of all retail sales in 1963. In some kind-of-business groups, over one-half of the total sales were made by multiunit establishments. Multiunits accounted for 83.7 percent of all sales in the general merchandise group, and 54.1 percent in food stores. In contrast, multiunits accounted for only 8.5 percent of the sales of automotive dealers and 15.6 percent in eating and drinking places. Table K presents these data for all major kind-of-business groups.

LEGAL FORM OF ORGANIZATION

Of the total of 1,708,000 retail establishments in the 1963 census, 1,125,000 or 65.8 percent were owned by individual proprietors, as compared with 1,240,000 or 69.3 percent in 1958.

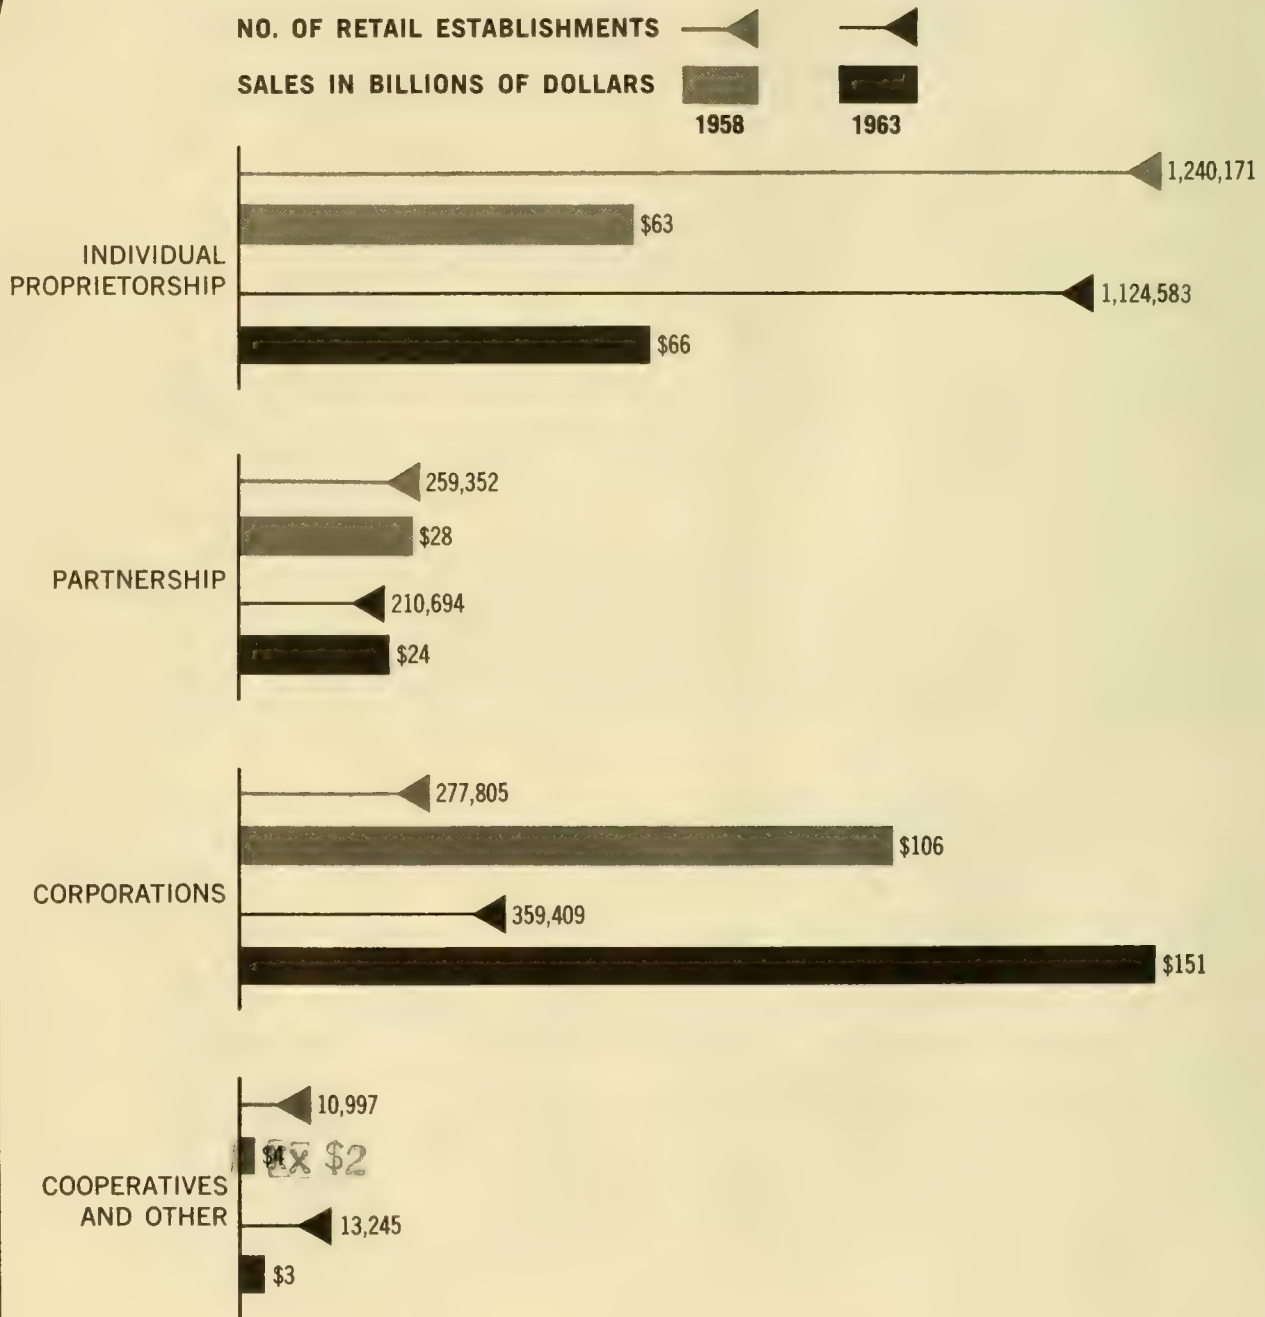

Despite the preponderance in number of establishments owned by individual proprietors and partnerships, the establishments of corporations accounted for 61.9 percent of all retail sales. Table L presents data for the years 1958 and 1963, for these and other legal forms of ownership.
